In the mid-fifties, Robert LeFevre founded the Freedom School near Colorado Springs. Rose Wilder Lane Hall, an impressive three-story log building was dedicated in 1962. The rustic pine-paneled library (left) housed an extensive collection of books on liberty and related subjects. In 1968 the school was closed and the library was relocated.

Early next year, a beautiful new facility will be opened in Costa Mesa, California and the library will again be available to freedom-minded individuals.

Welcome to the 13th Annual FOF Con

We would like to welcome you to the 13th Future of Freedom Conference being held at Griswold's Hotel in Fullerton.

This year's conference is unique in that for the first time ever, the FOF Con has left the college campus scene. After 12 years at colleges, we finally "graduated". No more campus authorities with rigid rules—no more complicated paperwork that would take an attorney to fill out—and no more poor food service.

Furthermore, we came to the conclusion that our participants were not students anymore. With this in mind, we decided to conduct our event at a more comfortable environment—a hotel. At a hotel we can have wild, late-night parties (we will have a hospitality suite), properly cooked meals, hotel rooms, spacious parking and room service. Our luncheons, weather permitting, will be outside in the patio. We have hired two musicians to play Irish and country folksongs. We are making the most of the amenities in an effort to spiff up our conference. We hope you will enjoy the changes.

Friday and Saturday Nights!

From the crossbow . . . to the public-key cipher

Technology Equals Freedom!

The invention of the man-portable crossbow may rank among history's classic triumphs of technology over tyranny. An untrained peasant could now reliably and lethally engage a target at distances out to a hundred meters--even if that target were a mounted, chain-mailed knight. Since about the only mounted knights likely to visit your average peasant would be government soldiers and tax collectors, the crossbow was not without appeal: With it, the common rabble might defend themselves not just against one another, but against their governmental masters! Kings and priests (the traditional meddlers with Alcohol, Tobacco and Crossbows) threatened death and excommunication, respectively, for unauthorized possession of this dangerous, anti-state weapon.

The public-key cipher (with a personal computer to run it) represents an equivalent quantum leap--in a defensive weapon. Not only can such an encryption technique be used to protect sensitive data in one's own possession, but it can also permit two strangers to exchange information over an insecure channel--a wiretapped phone line, for example (or skywriting, for that matter)--without ever having previously met to exchange cipher keys. With a thousand-dollar computer, you can create a cipher that a multi-megabuck CRAY X-MP can't crack in a year. Within a few years, it should be economically feasible to similarly encrypt voice communication. Technology will have made wiretapping useless!

To the denizens of Auschwitz (or Manzanar), adequate technology might have been as simple as a tungsten-carbide wire cutter; to the Soviet samizdat underground, an inexpensive, concealable mimeograph machine. The East German who would rather be a West German might benefit from studying the aerodynamics of hang-gliders; similarly, the thirsty Saudi Arabian could inquire into the technology of fermentation and distillation. And so it goes. Vis-a-vis contemporary society, you'd better learn how to beat your plowshares into swords before they outlaw plowshares too!

The purpose of The LiberTech Project is the acquisition and dissemination of liberty-enhancing technology. Some of this information may get a bit bouncy, so let us be clear that it is intended for educational and informational purposes only.

. . . and, lo! from the fiery heart of the laser, a voice spake, saying, "Go forth and tell thy people that if they eschew liberty until 51% of their brethren are persuaded not to enslave them, then they will live and die in chains--but that technology can give them freedom in the here and now! Speak unto Objectivists, Libertarians, Discordians, survivalists and soldiers of fortune--and take special pains to reach computer hackers, electronics phreaks, and high-techies of all sorts. Speak even unto those who sail with Brother Timothy's Spaced Patrol and those who worship with G. Gordon at the Church of the Open Bolt, for while ye seek Galts and Celnes, forget not that an Uncle Duke may make an invaluable contribution to your data base. And finally, give ye a free 3-month subscription to the Project newsletter to anyone who mentions FOFCON '85 in his/her inquiry . . ."

RAY BRADBURY, author of Fahrenheit 451, The Martian Chronicles, The Illustrated Man, and Something Wicked This Way Comes, has written 400 short stories and 15 novels. Movies and TV script writer, Bradbury has worked with film director John Huston, Alfred Hitchcock and Rod Serling of The Twilight Zone. Among his latest efforts are his first novel in 22 years, a murder-suspense thriller scheduled for publication this fall; a screenplay Omenemo, written for producer of The Empire Strikes Back; and an opera for the Seattle Opera Company.

KARL HESS was Sen. Barry Goldwater's speechwriter for his 1964 presidential campaign. Hess has also written for Presidents Nixon and Ford before becoming disillusioned with the Washington D.C. establishment. A former editor of Newsweek magazine, Hess has written and co-authored several books, Dear America, Community Technology, In A Cause That Will Triumph, End Of The Draft and Neighborhood Power. Hess lives in West Virginia in an underground house that he built himself.

Reid's first book was The Paper Trip, a unique approach to personal privacy through a change of identity. His other books include The Paper Trip II and Privacy.

In 1976 he was interviewed by 60 Minutes on how to create alternative identities. In 1979, the U.S. Justice Department, annoyed at his activities and books, wrote that Barry Reid is a "hero to the underworld." He graduated from UCLA with a B.A. in Political Science and later received an M.A. in Spanish Literature.

ROBERT LEFEVRE has been a fountainhead of the west coast libertarian movement almost since its inception. He is also one of the most controversial libertarians on the issues of justice and pacifism. LeFevre has had an extensive career in both broadcasting and journalism. In 1956 he founded the Freedom School in Colorado Springs, Colorado (later renamed Rampart College and moved to Santa Ana, California). He is the author of numerous books including This Bread is Mine, The Nature of Man and His Government, The Philosophy of Ownership, Lift Her Up Tenderly and the booklets Good Government: Hope or Illusion? and Does Government Protection Protect?

David Ramsay Steele was born in Scotland and lived in England until 1981. He was a leader in the Socialist Party of Great Britain, giving speeches to worker in support of Marxism. A graduate at the University of Hull in northern England, Steele received his B.A. in sociology. His new book, Mars and Mises: Socialism and Economic Calculation, published by Open Court Publishing will soon be available to the public. A popular speaker in the mid-west, Steele has published in the Journal of Libertarian Studies and was a Fellow at the Institute of Humane Studies.

In May, 1984 Dr. Simon slipped through the rugged mountain passes into Afghanistan on foot, wearing native Afghan garb to successfully avoid being spotted by Soviet helicopter gunships. Accompanied by the Mujahideen and Afghan doctors, he walked fifteen miles a day in extreme temperatures to treat the sick and wounded, and to train the Afghans to diagnose and treat wounds and diseases themselves.

After his return to the United States, Dr. Simon founded a non-profit organization called "The International Medical Corps (IMC). The IMC has developed into a group of 250 volunteer doctors, nurses and medical personnel who go to Afghanistan to give medical aid.

GEORGE H. SMITH has spoken frequently at the Future of Freedom Conferences and has proved to be one of our most popular speakers. Author of Atheism: The Case Against God, he studied philosophy at the University of Arizona. He is a research fellow for the Institute for Humane Studies, which is funding his new book on voluntary schooling vs. government schooling. Smith has lectured extensively for the CATO Institute.

Where Will You Be 100 Years From Now?

A pretty important question? At ALCOR we think it is, and we're trying to make it an easier question for you to answer.

That's why ALCOR offers cryonic suspension, a program of low temperature care undertaken after today's physicians have "given up" and declared "death". We know that a person is only as "dead" as available medical technology is limited and we are confident that existing freezing techniques are successful in preserving the vast majority of the molecular structure or information content of the person.

In the future, when engineering on a molecular level is realized, we think it almost inevitable that repair of people suspended with today's techniques will become possible. That's why ALCOR offers cryonic suspension.

But we aren't content to just sit and wait on tomorrow. We're engaged in a sophisticated program of research aimed at minimizing cooling-associated injury, and ultimately at the development of suspended animation. We know that the time to take action is now and that we can't count on others to save our lives for us.

We urge you to contact us today for information on how you can obtain cryonic protection for yourself and those you love.

Please don't delay — or the answer to where you'll be a hundred years from now may turn out to be: "Nowhere at all."

Please send information on how I can arrange for cryonic protection for myself and my family.

Now From The Exciting Speech
by Robert LeFevre...Comes An Exciting Booklet!

“Does Government Protection Protect?”

One of the best speeches by radio/TV commentator, newspaper columnist and author, Robert LeFevre. Taking a strong libertarian position towards protection, LeFevre argues that “Governments have never really said they are going to protect us” and that governments are more interested in getting people to obey legislative laws than actually providing protection.
LeFevre says that so-called government protection usually comes after the fact—after the crime has been committed.
And that usually governments give us only laws of retaliation. But, according to LeFevre, people want to be protected, not victimized.

PUBLIC FEAR NUMBER ONE:

It's not death, taxes, hell or herpes, it's public speaking. That's right. Surveys have found that most people rate speaking in public as their greatest fear. But fear not! There is an organization which is not only the largest private educational organization in the world but also the world's largest non-profit organization. That organization is Toastmasters International. In Southern California, Libertarian Toastmasters offers you a special opportunity to become a better communicator, thinker, listener.

If you'd like to learn more about this unique group, come to the Libertarian Toastmasters workshop on Sunday, October 21, in room 239 from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Give communication and leadership a try. After 50 years of development, the Toastmasters program has to be good. More than a million participant think so.

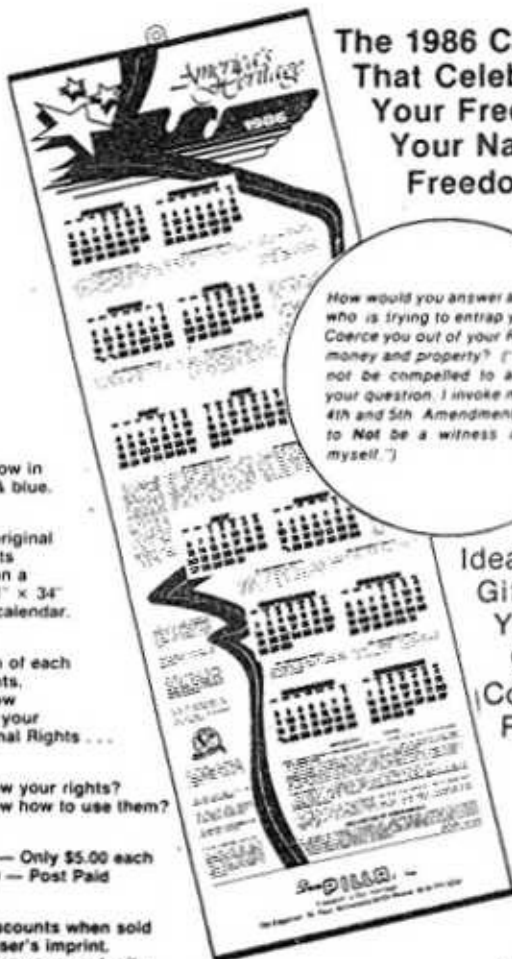

Anyone can turn an old fear into a new freedom!
