

Toe erosion begins at time zero in the weaker non-cohesive layer and partially erodes a small lower portion of the cohesive layer. Erosion continues until time 1. Immediately following the removal of the non-cohesive layer, material from the cohesive layer falls at time 2. The process then begins again.