Herries

The Right Honourable MARMADUKE CONSTABLE-MAXWELL, Baron Herries of Terregles, in the Peerage of Scotland, Baron Herries of Carlaverock Castle, in the county of Dumfries, in the Peerage of the United Kingdom, Lord-Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of the East Riding of the county of York, Deputy-Lieutenant for the county of Dumfries; formerly Captain Yorkshire Hussar Yeomanry Cavalry, Lieutenant of the Stewartry of Kirkcudbright. Born October 4, 1837, being the eldest son of the Right Honourable William Constable-Maxwell, eleventh Baron Herries, by his wife Marcia, eldest daughter of Sir Edward Marmaduke Vavasour, commonly known as the Honourable Sir Edward Marmaduke Vavasour, Baronet, of Hazlewood, in the county of York; succeeded his father in 1876. Creation—Before February 7, 1492, Scotch Barony; Baron of the United Kingdom, November 10, 1884. Armorial bearings as used, and as quoted in Burke and Debrett's "Peerages," are for Arms: Quarterly, 1. argent, an eagle displayed with two heads sable, beaked and membered gules, surmounted of an escutcheon of the first, charged with a saltire of the second, and surcharged in the centre with a hedgehog (for Maxwell); 2. quarterly i. and iiiii., or a saltire sable; ii. and iii., three hedgehogs (for Herries); 3. quarterly gules and vair, over all a bend or (for Constable); 4. azure, on a bend cotised argent, three billets sable (for Haggerston). Crest—A stag's head with ten tines argent. Supporters—Two savages or wild men wreathed about the loins, and holding clubs proper. Motto—"Dominus dedit." These have never been matriculated in Lyon Office to Lord Herries, and consequently he can have no right to them, save, perhaps, as quarterings; nor has Lord Herries taken the trouble to establish the right to any arms at all. Cadets of his family have however matriculated "differenced" coats of Constable and Maxwell. As far as the Editor can judge from the printed pedigrees of the family, the arms of Lord Herries would at present be those of Haggerston.
